Our body must become a bridge, in us and between us, ensuring the passage from a past humanity to a new humanity ...

Luce Irigaray – To Be Born

My next series of Zoom classes will maintain your practice whilst creating an opportunity for people to be in a somatic community. My focus is on moving and movement: bringing awareness into our bodies, through self-touch and the pleasure of moving. From the comfort and chaos of your home you can participate in these 90min classes where I will focus on what feels critical for remaining resilient in these uncertain times. Make sure you have enough room to roll, spread, lengthen, reach and wriggle.

The 5-week series develop somatic awareness and cellular consciousness. These are powerful resources for any body any time. Body-Mind Centering® is the ground of my somatic practice and teaching. As a study of the experienced feeling body it offers resistance to the idea of the objectified mechanical body.

Structure of Classes

10.45am meet online to catch-up; 11am outline focus of class and begin somatisation – 1 hour; followed by 15mins improvised moving/dancing/singing/playing for integration and 15mins to share and close.

**You will need a warm comfortable place and a blanket for lying on the floor.*

These online workshops cultivated spaciousness and compassion for our selves and each other, tuning us into our liveness – physical, virtual and spiritual.

Julie Robson – performance maker and educator
